• M35 Cobalt Steel drill bits cut through hard metals, bolts, or studs while resisting wear and extending the useful life of the tool.
• No center punch needed: Century's 135° quick-cut points are self-centering and penetrate faster with less pressure. Drill bit will not "walk" or "wander" at the starting point.
• Shorter mechanics length style provides strength and stability required in precision drilling applications.
• Heavy duty web construction adds strength to prevent breakage in hard to drill applications.
